Cash In On What’s Hiding In Your Closet

LINCOLN, Neb.—Most people have no idea what their donations are worth. You know you can deduct the value of charitable items on your tax return when you itemize, but how on earth do you determine the value? If you overstate the value, you risk an audit, penalties and interest. If you underestimate, you pay more taxes than you should. Valuing donations is difficult because the law does not allow the charities to set values. In fact, donors are responsible for obtaining the current fair market value of their donated items as specified in the IRS guidelines.

Guaranteed Tax Savings & Audit Protection

Taxpayers increase their tax savings by at least $250 when they use the 84-page booklet titled, “MONEY For Your Used Clothing.” Most people save hundreds more. The 2011 tax guide publishes values for over 1,200 used clothing and household items commonly donated to charity that comply with the new IRS guidelines, saving people hundreds of dollars on their taxes—guaranteed.

“MONEY For Your Used Clothing” is guaranteed two ways:

1. Taxpayers who itemize will save at least $250 on their income tax return or their money back.
2. Certified Used Clothing Values, Inc., will pay all interest and penalties if the IRS disallows the deduction, provided the booklet is properly registered.

“MONEY For Your Used Clothing” explains seven simple steps for documenting donations in accordance with IRS Guidelines, and tells how to receive a tax windfall without waiting to file a tax return. It also addresses recent IRS tax law changes that affect charitable deductions.

“MONEY For Your Used Clothing” retails for $25 (add $4 postage and handling). For more information, please visit www.MFYUC.com or call toll free at 1.866.417.7678.
